The Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences in the College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida invites applications for up to 3 clinical speech-language pathology faculty positions (official UF title: Clinical Lecturer). These are full-time (1.0 FTE) 12-month, non-tenure, benefitted clinical faculty positions. We are seeking dynamic individuals to serve a uniquely diverse medical speech-language pathology population and to supervise students on clinical rotations. Preference will be given to applicants with clinical experience who can work independently in outpatient and/or inpatient medical settings. Specific expertise in evaluation and treatment of pediatric and adult patients in an interdisciplinary outpatient rehabilitation setting is preferred. We are searching for individuals who have expertise in:

1) Assessment and treatment of children with speech, language and cognitive disabilities;
2) Communication disorders associated with hearing loss;
3) Adults with speech language disabilities.

Experience with assessment and treatment with augmentative communication devices is a plus. Experience in providing treatment with other therapeutic disciplines (OT/PT) is also preferred. Applicants must have a Master’s degree in Speech-Language Pathology, hold or be eligible for Florida licensure, and hold or be eligible to receive the Certificate of Clinical Competence. Candidates with a work history that provides documented evidence of strong team-based skills is a plus.

The University of Florida is a comprehensive doctoral research-extensive university that includes a full range of academic departments and programs (www.ufl.edu). It has a long history of established programs in international education, research and service and is one of only 17 public, land-grant universities that belong to the Association of American Universities. The College of Public Health and Health Professions is part of the University’s Health Science Center, which includes the Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing, Dentistry, and Veterinary Medicine.

To view this job posting online and submit an application packet, which includes a CV, letter of interest, and list of references, go to http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing and search by job #496792. Application deadline date is April 29, 2016.

The University of Florida is an Equal Opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. If an accommodation due to a disability is needed to apply for this position, please call 352-392-2477 or the Florida Relay System at 800-955-8771 (TDD). Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida’s Sunshine Law.