The Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences in the College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida invites applications for a clinical speech-language pathology faculty position (official UF title: Clinical Lecturer). This is a full-time (1.0 FTE) 12-month, non-tenure accruing, benefitted clinical faculty position. We are seeking a dynamic individual to serve a uniquely diverse medical speech-language pathology population and to supervise graduate students on clinical rotations. Preference will be given to applicants with clinical experience in evaluating and treating medically fragile pediatric patients in both inpatient and outpatient settings.

We are seeking individuals who have expertise in:

1) Pediatric swallow evaluations including Rehab Barium Swallow studies
2) Pediatric speech-language evaluations in inpatient and outpatient settings

Applicants must have a Master’s degree in Speech-Language Pathology, hold or be eligible for Florida licensure, and hold or be eligible to receive the Certificate of Clinical Competence. Candidates with a work history that provides documented evidence of strong team-based skills is a plus.

The University of Florida is a comprehensive doctoral research-extensive university that includes a full range of academic departments and programs (www.ufl.edu). It has a long history of established programs in international education, research and service and is one of only 17 public, land-grant universities that belong to the Association of American Universities. The College of Public Health and Health Professions is part of the University’s Health Science Center, which includes the Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing, Dentistry, and Veterinary Medicine.

To view this job posting online and submit an application packet, which includes a CV, letter of interest, and list of references, go to http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing and search by job #501014. Application deadline date is March 5, 2017.

The University of Florida is an equal opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the US. Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida’s Sunshine Law.