Assistant Professor
Department of Health Services Research, Management and Policy

Applications are being sought for a full-time, tenure track faculty position in the Department of Health Services Research, Management and Policy. Only applicants at the rank of Assistant Professor will be considered. Applicants must have a doctorate in health services research or a relevant, related discipline. A focus on diabetes research is preferred. The department has a particular need for faculty who can teach in the Social and Behavioral Science concentration of the college’s PhD in Public Health program. Duties include participating in research, teaching and mentoring of students, and service to the department. This is a full-time (1.00 FTE), 12-month position, expected to start in Spring of 2018.

Health Services Research, Management and Policy is one of eight departments in the College of Public Health and Health Professions. The department offers a Master of Health Administration (MHA) degree program, a PhD in Health Services Research, and the Public Health Management and Policy concentration within the college’s Master of Public Health program. More information on the department can be found at http://hsrmp.phhp.ufl.edu/.

The University of Florida is a comprehensive doctoral research-extensive university that includes a full range of academic departments and programs (www.ufl.edu). It has a long history of established programs in international education, research and service and is one of only 17 public, land-grant universities that belong to the Association of American Universities. The College of Public Health and Health Professions is part of the University’s Health Science Center, which includes the Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing, Dentistry, and Veterinary Medicine.

To view the job posting online and submit an application packet, which includes a CV, letter of interest, and list of references, please go to http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing/ and search by Job#505682. Applications will be accepted until December 22, 2017.

The University of Florida is an equal opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the US. Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida’s Sunshine Law.